

Enhance Productivity & Improve Services with the CenturyLink® Business Communicator

The CenturyLink Business Communicator provides end users with a seamless unified experience across mobile and computer platforms, including Windows, Mac, iOS, and Android. Business Communicator offers a single unified communications (UC) application for easy access to voice, video, instant messaging, and presence applications. Enjoy the freedom to access your services from almost any device, virtually anywhere.

Business Communicator delivers a variety of valuable features, including:

- One identity: You have one identity across all services: voice, video, instant messaging, and presence
- Access from any device: Access all of your communications services from any device, including your desk phone, desktop, laptop, mobile, or tablet
- Synchronized call logs, buddy lists, and service settings: All communications preferences are stored in the cloud and synchronized with the software on your device when you log in
- High definition voice and video: Voice and video calls are enhanced with the highest quality voice
- Move from device to device without interrupting calls: You can start a call on your desk phone and seamlessly move to your mobile device
- Seamless collaboration: Add people to conference calls via drag and drop, and share your desktop and files with ease

CenturyLink Business Communicator integrates an exceptional collaboration experience with multi-party HD video, rich context history, content sharing, and chat functionality all in one place.
