The future of collaboration is here

The work force has changed dramatically in the last five years. Employees use laptops and tablets to answer emails from home, a desktop at work, and their smart phones as they travel. Can your on-premise network equipment handle the growing mobile and virtual demands of your employees, customers, and suppliers?

CenturyLink® Managed Enterprise: Hosted Collaboration Solution, a Cisco powered service, allows your organization to be more flexible, agile, and efficient. Gain a competitive advantage through better empowering your people.

A recent study shows that collaboration services delivered from the cloud will account for 35% of the total collaboration service market by 2018.*

Deciding on the right solution

A Managed Enterprise: Hosted Collaboration Solution delivers consistency, flexibility, minimized upfront investments, and enterprise-grade security. Standard configurations designed to help you find the right solution for your business and a cloud-readiness assessment will help you cut through the hype, save money, and migrate effortlessly and flawlessly.
